Can I still make a difference?

No matter what stage of life we find ourselves in, we may wonder if what we've done with our time on earth bears any significance. But this question becomes especially important when our expectations for lifelong achievement and ability in later years come face to face with a reality that may not meet those lifelong hopes. Join Dale and Sandy Larsen in discovering the exciting ways in which you can learn, with God's help, to live your legacy. Through interaction with personal narratives, Bible studies, prayer, connection points with biblical figures and exercises designed to help you explore new possibilities, you will learn that there's much more to life now than you expected. Find out how to

- cast off security and deal with the uncertainty that often comes in the later years
- revive an old dream
- think through the skills you have that could help people in crisis
- discover courage and motivation to start something new
- seek out an alternative when retirement is not an option
- impact the children in your community
- take on a new leadership role

Dale and Sandy write: "We wound up writing this book mostly for ourselves. Along the way it turned into a book for everyone else who shares our uncertainties and our longing to stay future-oriented. If you wonder whether God still has valuable work for you to do, and if you desire to stay in active service for the Lord and for people but aren't sure how, then this book is written for you as well as for us."
