

BIO

ivp Academic

Awakening to Justice
Faithful Voices from the Abolitionist Past

March 26, 2024 | $28, 240 pages, paperback | 978-1-5140-0918-5

The Dialogue on Race and Faith project presents groundbreaking scholarship on the writings of David Ingraham and his two Black colleagues, James Bradley and Nancy Prince. Through considering connections between the revivalist, holiness, and abolitionist movements, they offer insight and hope for Christians concerned about racial justice.

The Dialogue on Race and Faith Project

The Dialogue on Race and Faith Project brings together a multicultural team of Christian scholars to study a newly discovered abolitionist journal, to meet and travel to sites of importance from the nineteenth-century antislavery movement, and to discuss how issues of faith and race among abolitionists may provide a usable history for addressing the struggle for racial justice today.

Estrela Y. Alexander, PhD, president of William Joseph Seymour Foundation and Church of God pastor

Esther Chung-Kim, PhD, professor of religious studies at Claremont McKenna College; president, American Society of Church History; ordained in the United Methodist Church

David D. Daniels III, PhD, Henry Winters Luce Professor of Global Christianity at McCormick Theological Seminary; bishop in the Church of God in Christ

Sègbégnon Mathieu Gnonhossou, DMin, PhD, assistant professor of theological studies at Seattle Pacific University; adjunct professor in Benin; ordained in the Free Methodist Church

Diane Leclerc, PhD, professor of historical theology at Northwest Nazarene University and Theological Seminary; ordained in the Church of the Nazarene

Albert G. Miller, PhD, Associate Professor of Religion and African American Studies Emeritus in the department of Religion at Oberlin College; pastor of the House of the Lord Pentecostal Church

Christopher P. Momany, DMin, scholar, author, and researcher who identified David Ingraham's abolitionist journal; United Methodist Pastor

R. Matthew Sigler, PhD, assistant professor of Wesleyan studies and Worship studies at Seattle Pacific University and Seminary; ordained in the United Methodist Church

Douglas M. Strong, PhD, Paul T. Walls Professor of Wesleyan Studies and the History of Christianity at Seattle Pacific University and founding Dean of Seattle Pacific Seminary; ordained in the United Methodist Church; Director, Dialogue on Race and Faith

Jemar Tisby, PhD, professor of history and public theology and founding director of the Center for Racial Justice, Simmons College

---

Karin DeHaven, academic publicity kdehaven@ivpress.com or ivpress.com/media

ivp

ivpress.com/media